Q. (22-23) Answer in 50-60 words.

Q. 22 Write down the charactersketch of the grandmother.(The Portrait of A Lady)

Answer:

"My grandmother, like everybody's grandmother, was an old woman. She had been old and wrinkled for twenty years. " In this chapter, 'The Portrait of a Lady', Khushwant Singh depicts the character sketch of his grandmother, and the grandmother was a symbol of old age. The grandmother was like everybody's grandmother and was full of wrinkles, fat, and bent as usual as our grandparents. She was not pretty, but "she was always beautiful". She was like the winter landscape in the mountains, an expanse of pure white serenity breathing peace and contentment. Therefore, she was an old, peaceful, and spiritual lady.

The grandmother was a spiritual and patriotic symbol. Khushwant Singh used to accompany her to the temple when he was a kid and stayed in the village. She always used "the beads of her rosary." the whole day and she was always busy in prayer but without any sound. Thus, we can say that she was a spiritual lady. She was of the view that students should be taught about God and the scriptures.

She was a little orthodox in nature as she never liked the music being taught in the class. To her, music had lewd associations. It was the monopoly of harlots and beggars and was not meant for gentlefolk. She began singing about the return of the soldiers when Khushwant Sing came back from abroad after finishing his education. She was overstrained and got a fever and died. Therefore, she was an old, peaceful, and spiritual lady.

Q. Compare the characters of both the women, Mrs. Pearson and Mrs. Fitzgerald (Mother's Day)

Mrs. Pearson and Mrs. Fitzgerald are the two main characters in Mother's Day, but their personalities are diametrically opposed. The author attempts to depict the characters by expressing their personalities. Mrs. Pearson is in her forties and is a pleasant lady who is timid and gentle. Mrs. Fitzgerald, on the other hand, is a little older, has a "strong and sinister" personality, and is a bold lady.

Mrs. Pearson and Mrs. Fitzgerald are two opposing characters. Mrs. Pearson is a loving and caring wife and mother. Her excessive love and care have spoiled her husband and children. As a result, they take her for granted and show no concern for her well-being. They act selfishly. Mrs. Fitzgerald, on the other hand, is assertive, authoritative, and aggressive. She is more practical and talented. Mrs. Pearson, she correctly predicts, will never be able to control her family unless she takes drastic measures. She switches personalities with Mrs. Pearson to teach her family members a lesson.
