CBSE Sample Question Paper 2022-2023 Class 12 English Solved: Reading Section Part-i

Section A: Rrading Skills (20 marks)

Note: You will get two paragraphs to test your reading comprehension skills.(10*2=20)

1. Read the passage given below: 10

1 Last week, a wild elephant was radio-collared for the first time in Assam State Forest Department and World Wildlife Fund (WWF) India, it is being described as a step to study and mitigate human-elephant conflict. The department plans to collar at least five elephants in high-conflict habitats in the coming months. Experts say the exercise is challenging and runs the risk of low success.

2 What it means? Radio collars are GPS-enabled collars and can relay information about an elephant's whereabouts. They weigh roughly 8 kg identifying a suitable candidate (generally an adult elephant), darting it with a sedative, and fitting the collar around its neck before it is revived. Additionally, the team also attaches an accelerometer to the collar to understand what exactly the elephant is doing at any given time (running, walking, eating, drinking, etc.).

3 Why is it done? The objectives are two-fold, said M.K. Yadava, Chief GPS would help us track and study the movement patterns of the herd, across regions and habitats, he said. Added Hiten Ba e will know where they are moving, which corridors they frequent, if the habitat is sufficient, if it needs protection, what is driving the conflict. The second objective is incidental : The collar would serve as an early warning system to people if elephants incidents, said veterinarian and elephant expert Kushal Konwar Sarma, who is involved in the exercise.

4 The Plan in Assam : In March 2020, the Ministry of Environment of Forest and Climate Change gave approval to collaring of five elephants nitpur and Biswanath districts. It set a number of of periodic reports. The Challenges : Collaring is an extremely time consuming and challenging exercise. We have to identify the matriarch of the herd we will tag identification alone takes time and involves us stalking them for days, said the elephant expert Sarma.

5 For there to go on foot. There is risk for very skilled experts on board and they are doing the job with utmost care. officials said, not all components for radio collaring are available in India including collars and tranquilising drugs. These have to be imported and are another challenge. Also elephants grow collars may become tight, so we usually take a senior elephant so there is less chance Baishya said, They will have it on for maximum six months, before it falls off , id Bibhuti Lakhar, a senior scientist. Last year, an elephant, which had strayed into Guwahati from Amchang Wildlife Sanctuary in 2019, was radio-collared on a trial basis. We monitored it for a month, but due to the weight of the belt and the elephant brushing against trees, the signal was feeble and ultimately the collar fell off, aid a forest official.

6 Is it worth it ? Yadava said while there were risks and the success rate was low, there has been no better mechanism than collaring to study conflict long-term.

Based on your understanding of the passage, answer the question below: 10*1=10

Q. (i) Show evidence from the passage that radio collaring of elephants is a challenging task.

Ans. The radio-collaring of elephants is a challenging task because they have to be imported and soon become tight and fall down.

Q. (ii) What purpose is served by radio collaring of elephants ? 1

Ans. The purpose of radio collaring is to track and study the movements of the elephant.

Q. (iii) Which device in the collar gives information about the elephant's activities ? 1

Ans. Radio collars with GPS give information about the elephant's moments.

Q. (iv) What are the twin objectives of collaring the elephants ? 1

Ans. The twin objectives of collaring the elephants are to track them at the moment and, second, the collar would serve as an early warning system to people if elephant incidents occur.

Q. (v) What two conditions are prescribed by the concerned Ministry for collaring elephants ? 1

Ans. The weight of the collar shouldn't be more than 8 kg and should be on the neck for a maximum of six months.

Q. (vi) Why is collaring a time consuming exercise ? 1

Ans. Collaring is a time-consuming exercise as darting it with a sedative and fitting the collar around its neck is very difficult. Second, the identification of the matriarch of the herd is again a difficult task.

Q. (vii) Why is it not advisable to put a collar on a young elephant ? 1

Ans. It is not advisable to put a collar on a young elephant, as the young elephant will grow and become fat and the collar will become tight.

Q. (viii) Why does the collar fall off from the elephant's neck? 1

Ans. The collar falls off from the elephant's neck as the weight of the belt and the elephant brush against trees.

Q. (ix) Find the word in the passage which means "to make a person or animal unconscious". (Para 5) 1

Ans. tranquilising

Q. (x) What is the main idea in the paragraph?

Ans. Saving animals with help of technology.

Q. (xi) A wild elephant was radio-collared:

(a) study and mitigate human-elephant conflict.

(b) to check the weight

(c) trace the location of elephant.

(d) both b and c

Ans. (a) study and mitigate human-elephant conflict.

2. Read the passage given below : 10

1 Research by a team of scientists has uncovered a surprising way to stimulate the development of healthy fat in humans. In the long-term, findings may have implications for the development of weight loss medication. These scientists found that the kind of stress that accompanies third degree burns may induce the human body to convert normal fat cells into brown fat, which burns calories at a higher rate. If future research can determine how and where the body accomplishes this conversion, it may be possible to develop drugs that induce artificial yet remarkably rapid fat burning in obese patients.

2 White adipose tissue normal, white fat accounts for most of the fat in the bodies of most mammals. Small mammals and newborn humans, however have a high proportion of brown fat. The difference between the two types led scientists to believe that brown fat has the potential to combat obesity. This is because brown fat contains excess of mitochondria : the structures within body cells that are responsible for producing energy. This means that brown fat burns more calories and releases more heat when it burns. After all, the function of naturally occurring brown fat is to generate heat in small animals, or in human infants, who do not yet have the ability to shiver.

[caption id="attachment_11285" align="alignnone" width="500"]

cbse[/caption]

3 The research began with the observation that patients with severe, widespread burns needed to consume more calories each day in order to maintain their weight. On studying the fat cells of 48 severe burn patients throughout their treatment, analysis of the fat samples revealed that what was once white adipose tissue, acquiring many characteristics similar to brown fat, including its ability to burn fat at a high rate. Of course we are still long way from the practical applications of these findings. This research however indicates the possibility of converting white fat into brown and reveals something about the conditions that catalyze such a conversion. BODY FAT CHANGES

Based on your understanding of the passage, answer the questions that follow:

Q. (i) What has the team of scientists uncovered ? 1

Ans. The team of scientists have uncovered the way to stimulate the development of healthy fat in humans.

Q. (ii) What kind of implications will the findings have ? 1

Ans. The findings may have implications for the development of weight loss medication.

Q. (iii) Does the information in the graphs support the author's statements regarding brown fat percentages in humans ? 1

Ans. Yes, the information in the graph support the author's statements regarding brown fat percentages in humans.

Q. (iv) Based on the data in the graph, state at what age does the greatest percent change occur in body fat type. 1

Ans. The greatest percent change occur in body fat type is at age of 20.

Q. (v) What accounts for most of the fat in the bodies of mammals ? 1

Ans. White fat accounts for most of the fat in the bodies of most mammals.

Q. (vi) What does the passage state about small mammals and newborn humans ? 1

Ans. Small mammals and newborn humans have a high proportion of brown fat.

Q. (vii) What does brown fat contain ? What is it responsible for ? 1

Ans. Brown fat contains excess of mitochondria and it has the potential to combat obesity.

Q. (ix) What is the side effects of stress?

Ans. Stress converts normal fat cells into brown fat, which burns calories at a higher rate.

Q. (x) Brown fat has the capacity to control:

- (a) height
- (b) weight
- (c) obesity
- (d) both b and c

Ans. (d) both b and c

Subject: Importance of CSR for the community

Respected Sir

Through the column of your esteemed newspaper, I, Menu Sen, an intern at Samanth Tech Pvt. Ltd., want to draw the attention of concerned people regarding corporate social responsibility and its benefits for society. Recently, on the occasion of Diwali, my company promised to help improve the infrastructure of public schools in the poor area of Hyderabad so that the poor students can avail of a good education in such schools. My company has been doing this type of work for a long time, and every year the CSR budget is increased. We took this step to encourage other organisations in the area to help the downtrodden by utilising their CSR for the upliftment of society. In a way, the CSR increases the brand value of the company; people start recognising it, and as a result, the profit gets enhanced. If all the companies can come together and donate their CSR to educate poor children, they can be the source of eradicating their poverty.

I sincerely expect that your valuable newspaper will publish my thoughts in the paper. Your positive response will benefit society and will help organisations think about how to best utilise their CSR for the greatest benefit.

Thanks

Sincerely yours

Menu Sen

A: The construction sector is believed to be quite hazardous and has the maximum number of fatal work injuries because apart from other causes, stakeholders in this sector tend to ignore safety regulations.

As a columnist for an e-zine, write an article in about 120-150 words, on the theme of the importance of worker safety in construction zones. Explore possible reasons for the prevailing situation and include suggestions for addressing it. Support your ideas with cues given below.

Article Writing: The importance of worker safety in construction zones

India has become a construction hub as residential and commercial properties are in high demand. Hence, the importance of worker safety in construction zones has become a serious issue in the construction sector, as it is believed to be quite hazardous and has the highest number of fatal work injuries. The stakeholders in the construction field tend to ignore the rules and regulations. There could be immense reasons behind the issue of worker safety.

The working hours of the workers depend on the nature and demand of the work. So, they get tired due to excess work and get fatigued, and the chances of accidents increase. Sometimes they work overtime without caring about their fatigue. The health issue of construction workers is another cause of fatalities, as the workers are not insured in India. So, in extreme weather conditions, they get sick and are unable to attend the hospital due to a shortage of money. Another reason for the fatalities is that they get buried under the soil due to a lack of safety measures in the mining areas. The managers of construction companies feel superior, and they consider the workers just as machines. Such a feeling creates misunderstandings among the workers. And last but not least, lack of training also causes fatal accidents on construction sites.

Safety is a vital part of any project to reduce the cost of the project. Safety on construction sites protects the public. Safety also reduces work-related accidents. Hence, a culture of safety should be developed on the construction site. So, give workers training to improve their safety and the safety of the public.

B. hypothesis

C. beliefs

D. superstitions

Ans. A. facts

V. Answer ANY FIVE of the following in about 40-50 words each. 5*2=10

i. "You realise the true value of a thing only on losing it." Comment on this statement in the light of the story, The Last Lesson.

Ans. As per M. Hamel, French was not going to be taught from tomorrow. Hamel informed the villagers that French was not going to be taught in the school. There was an order from Berlin that German would be taught in the schools of Alsace and Lorraine. The author, who showed no interest in the French language, started missing his mother tongue and felt sorry for not learning the language. Being a French teacher, he knew the value of language, but unfortunately, people couldn't realise the importance of French. Naturally, people realise the value only when they are free to learn the language. The same thing happened with the author. Everyone loves the country and its language. The mother tongue always reflects the rich culture of any country.

ii. State the common issue faced by most of the aged in the current times, with reference to the poem My Mother at Sixty-six.

Ans. All of us are going to be old one day, and aging is a natural process. In this poem, the poetess explains the old age of her mother, and she tries to explain that all of us have to become old. Old age symptoms and gestures are common among all human beings. She explains the problems of old age in her poem, "My Mother at Sixty-six." She was seated beside her mother and looked at her face. Her mother's face was 'doze, open-mouthed, her face ashen like that of a corpse'. All these words are the symbol of old age, which all of us have to face.

iii. What do we come to know about the author of Lost Spring, Anees Jung, through her interactions with Saheb and Mukesh?

Ans. Anees Jung explains how poverty affects children regardless of what they do. She explains that Saheb and Mukesh, like the other children, wanted to work according to their desires, but circumstances prevented them from doing so. Both Seemapuri and Ferozabad suffer from a lack of amenities. As a result, we can conclude that the title, Lost Spring, is appropriate in both parts of the story.

iv. Give two reasons why, according to Pablo Neruda, is 'keeping quiet' essential to attaining a better, more peaceful world. (Keeping Quiet)

Ans. The poet, Pablo Neruda, wants to convey through his poem, Keeping Quiet, that stillness is important for human beings. He conveys this idea through the title of the poem. We are always busy with our actions and don't have time for self-reflection. Therefore, the poet wants us to be still for a second, and during this stillness, we will realise the importance of being quiet in our acts. This moment of silence will be an esoteric moment for the whole world.

v. If the Christmas spirit is about selflessness, forgiveness and becoming 'better' versions of ourselves amongst other things, Edla Willmansson is the epitome of this spirit.

Justify with two points of evidence from The Rattrap.

Ans.

Answer: Edla Willmansson handled the peddler in a respected way. Therefore, her empathy toward the peddler helped him to change his life. This is the main idea of The Rattrap where the author, Selma Lagerlof asks us that a bad man can be turned into a good human being if we treat the person with a human touch.

Elda cooperates with the peddler to change himself and offers him a Christmas suit as a gift. Therefore, her love and care help him to become a nice fellow. Thus, the peddler wrote to Elda and appreciated her, “Honoured and noble Miss,” since you have been so nice to me all day long. “

vi. How can we say that marriage was a compromise for Aunt Jennifer? Support your response with two justifications. (Aunt Jennifer’s Tigers)

Ans. Do it yourself.

VI Answer ANY TWO of the following in about 40-50 words each. 2*2=4

i. ‘It’s easy to judge others and give advice, but much more difficult to apply it to ourselves.’ Elaborate with reference to the character of Sam in The Third Level.

Ans. The author or narrator of The Third Level creates a character named Charley who wishes to escape the problems in his life and travel to an imaginary world known as the third level. Charley fought with his girlfriend, Louisa. He was lost in his thoughts and wanted to reach home with this problem in his mind. He reached the third level of the Grand Central. It was a total escape from problems for Charley. On the ‘Central has been an exit, a way of maybe that’s how the tunnel I got into... ‘

ii. Comment on any one aspect of the writing style of the author, Kalki in The Tiger King. 2

Ans. The author uses the method of satire on the society. The Tiger King was a “man of indomitable courage face-to-face.” The most fantastic aspect of his demise was that, as soon as he was born, astrologers had foretold that one day the Tiger King would have to die. “The child will grow up to become the warrior of warriors, hero of heroes, champion of champions. But... “They bit their lips and swallowed hard.” When compelled to continue, the astrologers came up with it. “This is a secret which should not be revealed at all. And yet we are forced to speak out. “The child born under this star will one day have to meet its death.”

iii. How do we know that Dr. Sadao was conscientious as well as loyal? (The Enemy) 2

Ans. Sadao was a renowned surgeon who had taken an oath to save lives at any cost. They approached him and examined him. He was a wounded American soldier in the war. Dr. Sadao was in a pickle. Should he treat the injured American soldier or turn him over to the police? They would be arrested if they kept the man in their home. He would die if they left him there. They took him to their house after much deliberation. The servants were terrified when they saw the person and asked the doctor not to treat the war prisoner. They protested by leaving the house. This is how he was able to save his life as a doctor, but as a citizen, we might think that he didn't fulfill his duty. Dr. Sadao did his duty as a doctor and saved the life of a soldier by fleeing from his house. It was natural for a doctor who saved their life to kill the same person whose life he had saved.

VII Answer ANY ONE of the following in about 120-150 words. 1*5=5

i. The prose selections, Deep Water and Indigo, bring out the importance of overcoming fear, in order to be able to lead our lives successfully. Imagine yourself to be a motivational speaker who has to address high school students. Write this address in 120 – 150 words elaborating on occurrences from the two texts to inspire your audience and to convince them about the importance of overcoming fear.

You may begin like this ... Good morning, students! We all know what it's like to be afraid. Fear is our body's natural response to a perceived threat or danger. But when ...

Ans.

Good morning, students! As all of you might have faced the fear of something in your life and it occupied you all the time you faced such a problem, Fear is the most basic human emotion. Fear always attacks your nervous system, and the result is a fast heartbeat, increased blood pressure, and increased breathing. We feel anxiety, stress, and tension. Sometimes, you will feel a stomach ache due to fear. The psychology behind the fear is very tough to overcome. The students of class 12 have read Deep Water and Indigo, and in both chapters, fear plays an important role in the development of the plot, and we learn the methods of controlling our fear. In Deep Water, the author, William Douglas, tells us how a young boy, William Douglas, almost drowned in a swimming pool. In "Deep Water," William Douglas discusses his fear of water and how he finally overcame it. He uses his own story to make us understand how difficult it is to overcome our childhood fears. This might have happened to anyone, and the writer uses his autobiographical part to explain the techniques for removing your childhood fear with the help of planned ways and strategies.

In Indigo, the Champaran Movement became a symbol of Indian independence. Gandhi agreed to a settlement of a 25 percent refund to the farmers, as he explained, "The real relief for them is to be free from fear." Mahatma Gandhi helped the Indian farmers come out of the fear of English landlords who used to exploit the sharecroppers of Champaran. Therefore, Gandhi knew the importance of courage in fighting against the exploitation of landlords.

Hence, the students must learn the psychology behind their fears and adopt techniques for overcoming them to live a happy life.

ii. 'Their mother sighed. Sophie watched her back stooped over the sink and wondered at the incongruity of the delicate bow which fastened her apron strings.' The prose selection, Going Places includes this telling comment about Sophie's mother. In Aunt

Jennifer's Tigers, we are told that - 'The massive weight of Uncle's wedding band Sits heavily upon Aunt Jennifer's Hand.'

Imagine a conversation between Sophie's mother and Aunt Jennifer. Create this exchange with reference to the two extracts given above.

You may begin the conversation like this ... Sophie's mother: Your embroidery is so beautiful. Do you love tigers?

Ans.

Sophie's mother: Your embroidery looks very beautiful. Mrs. Jennifer, do you really love tigers?

Aunt Jennifer: I am afraid of living tigers, but I love the art of tigers.

Sophie's mother: Can you explain why you like tiger art but, in real life, you feel afraid of tigers?

Aunt Jennifer: "I want to show my feelings through the art of tiger."

Sophie's mother: What does it mean? I didn't get it. Can you explain in detail?

Aunt Jennifer: It means a show of strength for me, and this is the only way I can express myself as I am not listened to by my husband, and he always dominates the family. My life is spoiled.

Sophie's mother: "Oh, very sad!" I get it now. I am also treated in the same way in my family. And you have chosen the right way to express your feelings.

Aunt Jennifer: I don't expect that my situation will change in the near future. Therefore, I embroider, which will be remembered after my death, and my tigers will prance.

Q. VIII Answer ANY ONE of the following in about 120-150 words. 1*5=5

Q. i. On returning home, Tishani Doshi writes her thoughts reflecting on how her decision to enrol for the Students on Ice programme has been the single most important decision of her life that has completely transformed her. Imagine yourself to be Tishani and express these thoughts. You may begin like this: I can't thank my stars enough for having cashed in on the opportunity of.....

Ans.

I can't thank my lucky stars enough for having cashed in on the opportunity of being part of this adventure trip to Antarctica, called the "Students on Ice" program. It was an exciting and unforgettable decision to participate in the program, and I can call it the best decision I have ever made in my life. This programme helped me learn a lot, which became possible only after being a part of the "Students on Ice" team. The landscape was not inhabited by humans, and hence, the absolute difference can be seen in Antarctica. Unfortunately, things are changing due to environmental pollution. The temperature is changing at Antarctica due to global warming; the ice is melting and the sea level is increasing every day. We are all responsible for the degrading conditions of the environment, as we have either become selfish or don't understand the consequences of environmental pollution. This trip to Antarctica is a reminder to save our beloved earth. Hence, we should act as stewards of this earth to save our future generations. The moment was unforgettable for me.

Q. ii. Both Bama and Zitkala Sa experienced the harsh reality of discrimination in their childhood. Instead of letting it pull them down, they both found a way to overcome it. You wish to include a cameo* of both in your upcoming blog post. As a part of the research, compare and contrast the experiences faced by the two and their response/s to these experiences, in 120-150 words. [Clue: Include the similarities and differences in the discrimination they faced - their feelings - determination to overcome – success]

a short description that neatly encapsulates someone or something

Ans.

Zitkala-Sa and Bama have the theme of discrimination, irrespective of their cultural differences:

- Zitkala-Sa and Bama belong to different cultures.
- Both of them belong to marginalized communities.
- Both are celebrated writers.
- Both of them struggled hard in their lives.
- They faced discrimination, oppression, humiliation, suffering, and insults.
- Zitkala-Sa faced the severe prejudice that prevailed toward Native American culture and women.
- Zitkala-Sa's haircut reduces her to a losing warrior.
- Bama faced the oppression of the high society on untouchables.
- Bama never got respect, dignity, or honour because she belonged to an untouchable society.
- Both of them felt a sense of rebellion against the existing state of affairs.
- Zitkala-Sa and Bama had the seeds of rebellion in their early years.
