You will have the most frequently asked and answered questions from each chapter of Vistas from class 12 English (core) for the upcoming final examination of 2022–2023. The Tiger King textual questions and previous year's CBSE and HBSE questions are critical for the examination. The Tiger King was Kalki's way of explaining how people treat wild animals with little care.

The Maharaja of Pratibandapuram is the hero of this story. He may be identified as His Highness Jamedar-General, "his name was Jung Jung Bahadur," but he became famous as the Tiger King. He killed ninety-nine tigers to save his own life due to a saying by a purohit who declared that he would be killed by a tiger. Kalki explicitly explains the orthodox nature of a king who kills ninety-nine tigers just to save his own life! Let us discuss the questions in detail.

CBSE SureShot Short Questions and Answers "The Tiger King": Vistas Class 12 English (Core) 2022–23

CBSE Most Important Short Questions: "The Tiger King"

Reading with Insight(Textual Questions)

The Tiger King CBSE/HBSE Board's Questions and Answers: Vistas Class 12 English

Q.1. Who is the Tiger King? Why does he get that name? (SAT, JULY 2019, PRE-BOARD 2020)

Answer: The Tiger King was the king of Pratibandapuram. His real name was Jang Jang Bahadur. He got this name because he had killed so many innocent tigers in different states. The author gave this name to the king to prove the feudal attitude of kings towards wild animals. The astrologer declared that one day they would die. The small child asked the chief astrologer to disclose the way the death would come. The astrologer was surprised to hear this and replied that the death would come from a tiger. The young prince growled and warned, "Let tigers be aware!" Therefore, he decided to kill a hundred tigers and got the name "The Tiger King."

Q.2. What did the royal infant grow up to be?

Answer: The chief astrologer declared that the infant would be a king one day and that he would be the king of kings, champion of champions, and he would be called the tiger king. He was brought up by an English nanny, and the prince was tutored by an Englishman. He became the king at the age of twenty and started killing tigers for his defense, as it was declared by his chief astrologer that the tiger would be the cause of his death.

Q.3. What will the Maharaja do to find the required number of tigers to kill?

Answer: He would hunt a hundred tigers, and to complete his target, he was ready to do anything. He was able to kill seventy tigers in the first ten years. The tiger in his state asked the dewan about the remaining thirty tigers. The Tiger King then decided to marry a girl from his neighborhood state, where the tigers are in large numbers. The king got married to a girl from his enemy's state to have more tigers to hunt.

The king used to kill five or six tigers when he visited his father-in-law. This way, he got his target completed and he killed ninety-nine tigers.

Q.4. What did the chief astrologer tell to be the cause of the Maharaja's death? (HBSE 2010)

Answer: The chief astrologer declared that the king had to die by the hundredth tiger. It was just a simple satire that the king died due to infections created by a nail from the wooden tiger. So, we can say that orthodox ideas can't be supported blindly.

Q.5. When did the king come to know about the prediction of his death? (HBSE 2013)

Answer: Jang Jang Bahadur became a king at the age of twenty and remembered the prophecy of the chief priest. Soon after becoming the king, he started his journey to kill the tigers.

Q.6. How did the Maharaja feel when he killed his first tiger? What did the chief astrologer say on that occasion? (HBSE 2010).

Answer: The king killed the first tiger and sent for the priest for his comment. The king was very happy and wanted praise from him. The chief astrologer praised but reminded the king about the hundredth tiger.

Q.7. What was an unforeseen hurdle that brought the Maharaja's tiger hunt to a halt? (HBSE 2019)

Answer: The tiger king killed many tigers in his state. With the extinction of tigers and the pressure of British officers who wanted to kill tigers, The Maharaja didn't allow Britishers to shoot tigers in his state. His empire was in danger in this way, so he sent some expensive rings to the lady to save it.

Q.8. How did the Tiger king meet his end? or How did the hundredth tiger take its revenge upon the Tiger king? (HBSE 2019, 2020).

Answer: The King died from an infection caused by a nail in a wooden tiger, not the tiger itself. The last line, it's a clear satire on the willfulness of human beings who have an indifferent attitude towards wild animals. This is the irony of the situation: a king died not because of a wild animal but of a small nail. The rusty nail, not a tiger, is what kills the Tiger King. This is a satirical situation that the author made up to show that we need to respect wild animals or we will die from something small, not the wild animal.

Q.9. What miracle took place when the king was only ten days old? (HBSE 2014).

Answer: “The prince was born in the hour of the Bull. The Bull and the Tiger are enemies, therefore, death comes from the Tiger,” he explained. As soon as he heard it pronounced, the crown prince gave a deep growl. Terrifying words emerged from his lips. “Let tigers beware!” These were the words spoken by the child and he clearly warned the tigers that he would kill them soon.

Q.10. What did the king decide to gift his son on his birthday? (HBSE 2014).

Answer: The king was very happy about killing the hundredth tiger, and fortunately, it was his son’s birthday. So, he decided to gift a wooden tiger to his son on his birthday, which later became the cause of his death.

Q.11. How did the maharaja manage to save his throne? (HBSE 2018).

Answer: The King was on his journey to kill a hundred tigers. A British officer reached his kingdom, and he was fond of shooting tigers and getting photographed with the dead tigers. So, he revealed his wish in front of the king, which was unacceptable to the king as it might have hindered his plan to kill a hundred tigers. Therefore, the king discussed the issue with his Dewan. The Maharaja arranged fifty costly diamonds for the officer’s lady. She kept all the rings and didn’t return a single ring. She thanked the king for the gifts. The Maharaja had to pay three lakh rupees for the present. Thus, he was able to save his throne after paying such a heavy bribe to the officer’s wife. Taking and giving bribes is an offense, but the things that are going on The Maharaja paid the bribe to save his throne and succeeded in his plans.

CBSE Sure-Shot Long Answer Questions The Tiger King Class 12 English 2023

Q.1. The story is a satire on the conceit of those in power. How does the author employ the literary device of dramatic irony in the story?/(HBSE 2010)

or

Explain the title of The Tiger king?

In The Tiger King, Kalki openly criticises the wealthy for their indifference toward wild animals. The entire story revolves around the tiger king, who is the main protagonist. The title explains the author's intention. The story is a satire on the arrogance of those in power.

How can a ten-day-old boy take on the tigers? The author explains the astrologer's flattery of His Highness, the Tiger King, who became king at the age of twenty. To save his life, he begins killing tigers. He was killed not by the tiger but by a nail in a wooden tiger, and he died from a severe infection. In the final paragraph, the author employs dramatic irony.

The Tiger King is killed by a simple, rusted nail, not a tiger. This is a satirical situation used by the author to demonstrate his point that we must respect wild animals or we will be killed by something smaller than the wild animal itself. As a result, The Tiger King is a satire on the arrogance of those in power, as powerful people will go to any length to save their own lives.

Q.2.

Being a wildlife lover, you read the story of "The Tiger King," and you are shocked at how rich people are indifferent to wild animals. Explain: What is the author's indirect comment on subjecting innocent animals to the willfulness of human beings? (HBSE 2010)

Kalki considers him the king of kings, "the warrior of warriors, the hero of heroes, the champion of champions." But he would die one day, which happens to all human beings who are born to die, as death is the ultimate. You can't save yourself even by killing 100 tigers. The Tiger King is a satire on human nature; he is least bothered about the lives of wild animals and is so cruel as to kill 100 tigers to save his own life.

In The Tiger King, Kalki makes it clear that the rich are wrong for not caring about wild animals. The main character of the story is the tiger king, who is at the centre of the plot. The title shows what the author wanted to say. The story is a joke about how arrogant people in power are. How can a 10-day-old boy take on the tigers? To save himself, he starts killing tigers. It was the king's will to kill a hundred tigers for the sake of his life. In the end, how did he die? He died from an infection caused by a nail in a wooden tiger, not the tiger itself. The last line is a clear satire on the willfulness of human beings who have an indifferent attitude toward wild animals.

This is the irony of the situation: a king died not because of a wild animal but because of a small nail. The rusty nail, not a tiger, is what kills the Tiger King. This is a satirical situation that the author made up to show that we need to respect wild animals or we will die from something small, not the wild animal.

Q.3. Why did the king take a vow to kill one hundred tigers? (HBSE 2014, 2020).

OR

Q.3. Give a brief account of the killing of ninety tigers by the king? (HBSE 2017; HYT, SEPT. 2019).

In The Tiger King, Kalki criticizes the rich people for being indifferent toward wild animals. The whole story revolves around the tiger king, who is the chief protagonist of the story. The title explains the intention of the author. The story is a satire on the conceit of the people who are in power. How can a boy of ten days old challenge the tigers?

The author explains the flattery of the astrologer in front of His Highness, the Tiger King, who became the king at the age of twenty. He starts killing tigers to save his life. The story is a joke about how arrogant people in power are. How can a 10-day-old boy take on the tigers? To save himself, he starts killing tigers. It was the king's will to kill a hundred tigers for the sake of his life. In the end, how did he die? He died from an infection caused by a nail in a wooden tiger, not the tiger itself.

He was not killed by the tiger but by a nail in a wooden tiger and got a heavy infection and died. The author employs dramatic irony in the last. The Tiger King is killed not by a tiger but by a simple rusted nail. This is a satirical situation that the author used to prove his point that we must respect wild animals, otherwise our death will be by a small thing and not by the wild animal itself.

Q.4. Giving a bribe is an evil practice. How did the Tiger king bribe the British Officer to save his kingdom? How do you view this act of his? (HBSE 2019).

Taking and giving bribes is an offense, but the things that are going on. The Maharaja paid the bribe to save his throne and succeeded in his plans. The tigress The King was on his way to slaughter a hundred tigers. A British officer arrived in his kingdom and enjoyed shooting tigers and having his picture taken with dead tigers.

As a result, he revealed his wish to the king, which was unacceptable to the king because it could have jeopardized his plan to kill a hundred tigers. As a result, the king discussed the matter with his Dewan. The Maharaja arranged for the officer's lady to receive fifty expensive diamonds. She kept all of the rings and did not return even one. She expressed her gratitude to the king for the gifts. The Maharaja was required to pay three lakh rupees for the gift. After paying such a large bribe to the officer's wife, he was able to save his throne.

Thus, bribe has become an inseparable part of our system, and we are not immune to it. There are good people in our system, but they are not counted.
