CBSE Sure-Shot Questions "On the Face of It," Class 12 Eng. 2023: Summary

Susan Hill's "On the Face of It" is a short play of three acts and three characters. The story of On the Face of It is about a small boy, Derry, who has a burnt face. Mr. Lamb is an old man with an artificial leg made of tin, as is Derry's mother. The author, Susan Hill, tells us about people's attitudes toward excommunicated people when a small kid, who is very withdrawn and defiant, strikes up a friendship with the old man. Do you know what the common bond between them is that resulted in their friendship? The author forces us to consider issues in which people's disabilities cause them to be isolated from society.

Derry unknowingly enters Lamb's garden, and fortunately, he is welcomed by the owner of the garden, who helps him live a normal life, leaving behind his past. Derry was upset due to the scar on his face and was very upset as the people don't want any association with him. Thus, they start sharing their problems and soon become friends. Derry asks Lamb, "How is he disliked by other children?" Children tease him due to his burned face. But Mr. Lamb was constantly reminding him to focus on the good. As their friendship develops, Mr. Lamb asks him to assist him in gathering his garden's crab apples. Derry explains to him that he has traveled too far from home and has not told his mother about this. Mr. Lamb advises him to ask his mother for permission.

Therefore, Lamb convinces him to go home for his mother's permission, but his mother doesn't want him to go back to Lamb's house. In the meantime, Mr. Lamb sends the ladder to pick the crab apples, and he dies after falling from the ladder. Then, Derry reached his garden and found Mr. Lamb dead, and he started sobbing.

Thus, the writer wants us not to feel shame over our appearance, and we should always treat such people without realizing their disability.

But when Mr. Lamb said the same thing, Derry picked up on the alternative viewpoint and underlying empathy, which drew him closer to Lamey-Lamb.

Q. 3. Will Derry get back to his old seclusion or will Mr. Lamb's brief association effect a change in the kind of life he will lead in the future? How about... using your imagination to suggest another ending to the above story.

Answer:

Derry won't return to his isolation, that's for sure. Derry's brief friendship with Mr. Lamb enhanced his self-esteem and taught him to value himself. Derry underwent a tremendous metamorphosis as a result of the old man's ability to assist him to understand the value of being independent, respecting oneself, and holding onto hope. He tells his mother that his appearance is unimportant because of his newly discovered self-worth. He begins to place more value on his abilities than on his appearance.

It is unlikely that Mr. Lamb's passing would cause him to resume his solitary existence. He has undergone a significant change, and it will not be undone by setbacks.
